Session Title: Teaching Fairly In An Unfair World

Kathleen is an animated presenter who will surely offer you an interesting workshop. Don't miss out on this opportunity.

The workshop cost – $75.00 - includes the session and lunch.

Creating learning environments that reflect, affirm, celebrate, and validate the diversity and complexity of the human experience is crucial to the success of students in contemporary Canadian classrooms.

In this session, participants will understand the importance of anchoring culturally responsive and relevant pedagogy into the everyday life of the school experience.

Time will be spent imagining schools as places where all students are successful, where sufficient resources support high expectations, and where there is an ethic of hearing and responding to all voices that are present.

Please pass this information to others – the workshop is geared for both primary and secondary educators of all disciplines.

Please contact Karen Hunt or Paul Barnes to register for this workshop at:
